The testimony, which threw the packed courtroom into excitement, came from Mrs. Sophie Sehar, the commonwealth's chief witness against the dapper squire.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 15.—With Bruno Richard Hauptmann losing eleventh hour legal battles to stave off his electrocution set for 8 o'clock Friday night, the condemned man's brightest hope today still seemed to be Governor Harold G. Hoffman.

The question of the hour was: "What will Governor Hoffman do?" No one knew. The governor remained the enigmatic figure in the background. Yet in face of his continued silence the rumor would not down that he intends to grant Hauptmann a thirty-day reprieve.

More Legal Maneuvers

Hauptmann's five lawyers, meanwhile, prepared to exhaust every legal maneuver to save the convicted kidnapper of the Lindbergh baby from the chair. He had determined upon two moves.

1. Taking their legal battle to the third circuit court of appeals in Philadelphia.

2. Putting the issue up to the supreme court of the United States.

The Hauptmann lawyers were visibly depressed by the action of Federal Judge J. Warren Davis of the circuit court here in denying the application of Hauptmann for a

SUICIDE RATE SHOWS DROP

Report 1,012 In Less Than Year

Ten Month Record Shows Decrease From Previous Year However

MOST VICTIMS ARE OVER FORTY YEARS

By ARTHUR H. WAKELEE
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG. Jan. 15.—Contrary to popular belief, those pleasant years after 40—when life should begin often prove periods of tribulation and despondency that annually drive many Pennsylvanians to take their own lives as the race for existence becomes too swift, the struggle too desperate.

This was disclosed today in an International News Service survey of the state's suicide rate during the first 10 months of the past year. Although 1935 saw a continued drop in the number of suicides in Pennsylvania, the age group of those between 45 and 54 contributed the greatest number of sacrifices to the battle for life—as that group did in the previous year.

1,012 Suicides

During the first 10 months of 1935, there were 1,012 suicides in the state, the total including all age classifications. Of that number, approximately one-quarter, or 251 were persons whose life-span had reached its fullness, those between 45 and 54 years of age. In 1934 suicides totaled 1,330, of which the greatest single group—332—consisted of that same 45 to 54 age classification.

Comparative rates for the two years, however, indicated the decline in suicides that has been evident in recent years. In 1934, the state's suicide rate was 13.5 per 100,000 population, while for the first 10 months of 1935, computed on an annual basis, it was 12.4.

On the whole, Pennsylvania cities compare favorably with most others in suicide rates. The rates for Pittsburgh and Philadelphia in recent years were 14.4 and 16.1 respectively. They compare, for like periods, with the following:

New York, 16.6; Chicago, 15.8; Los Angeles, 30.6; St. Louis, 20.8; Baltimore, 18.6; San Francisco, 31.0; Washington, 26, and Madison, Wis., 4.4.

Zenith In 1932-33

The number of suicides in Pennsylvania as well as throughout the country, reached their height in the zenith of the depression period, 1932 and 1933. In 1935, the sixth year of the depression, the rate everywhere continued to drop as it had in the previous year.

But in the Keystone state, the ancient theory of suicides developing in "circles"—one directly or indirectly touching off another—also held true in age classifications. Next to the 45 to 54 group in total number, both in 1934 and '35, was the 55 to 64 age category, followed by the 35 to 44 age classification.

During the past year firearms were again the prevalent means of suicide. Of the 1935 suicides, 312 took their lives by this method, while in the previous period firearms totaled 448—hanging or strangulation took second place in the means of taking life, while poisonous gas was the third most popular method in both years. Another suicidal method, leaping from high places, advanced from seventh most widely used means in 1934 to fifth last year.

GROVE CITY PLAYERS DELIGHT COLLEGE CLUB
MRS. HARVEY E. MARTIN
RECEIVES N. H. B. CLUB

College club held its regular session Tuesday evening in the Green room of the Y. W. C. A., with the president, Miss Margaret Reher, in the chair.

Following roll call, the meeting was turned over to Miss Dorothy Edmunds, chairman of the evening's program, who introduced Miss Marie Franklin of the department of speech, from Grove City college.

For the program, Miss Franklin presented a group of her students in "The Three Musketeers" by Alice Gilmore, a former student at the college. The cast included: Peggy, Jean Ellis, Gentile, Betty Wilson, Lois, Maxine, Shelly, Sunny, Jane Ellis; Don, James Ashcomb.

Afterwards, Miss Franklin herself delighted her audience with the presentation of four short original sketches, "The Modern Mother," "The Modern Grandmother," "The Old Fashioned Mother" and "The Old Fashioned Visitor." These were so well received that she responded to an encore, giving the account of "Jonah and the Whale" in pantomime form.

To close the evening's program the Grove City players presented "Gypsy Hearted," written by Bessie White, also a former Grove City student. The cast included: Uncle Jerry, James Ashcomb; Barbara (his fiancee), Roberta Drake; Aunt Olivia (his sister), Marine Shelly; Don (Barbara's husband), John Pizor. Besides being unusual, the evening's entertainment was most delightful as the plays were all well done and the actors merited hearty applause.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Misses Frances McClaren, Bernice Bartlett, Ola Rodgers, Mrs. James L. Cole, Misses Frances Hayden and Jeanette Glass. The tea table was centered with an extremely clever igloo village, other appointments being carried out to harmonize.

The next meeting of the College club will take place on February 11, at the same place.

EPWORTH LEAGUE DINNER-MEETING

There were covers for 45 guests at a dinner-meeting given in the First M. E. church Tuesday evening for members of the Epworth League. This was the second event of the kind promoted by the organization, and its success was indicative of future affairs as enjoyable.

R. L. Meermans gave the invocation and pep singing which followed was led by E. C. Gatrall and DeLace Cole. At a short cabinet meeting, activities for the remainder of the month were planned.

John Templeton was general chairman last night, and Bettie Cole chairman of the informal entertainment period.

Sisterhood Party

At a meeting of Star of Liberty Sisterhood, Dames of Malta, Tuesday evening in their hall on East Washington street, plans were made for a party on January 23, in the home of Mrs. Blanche Swanton, on Norwood avenue. Other matters of group interest were also discussed.

SOME WORDS ON THRIFT

We are living in a New Era. The old copy book maxim about saving one's money and the value of thrift and perseverance are now distinctly "out." We have been told that we are through with the horse and buggy age, despite the fact that the Supreme Court was accused of trying to put us back there through its sound decision on the NRA. Just what era we are in, now that horses have been left behind—though there are still a lot of folks who seem to be buggy—has not yet been satisfactorily demonstrated. Doubtless Prof. Rex Tugwell would tell us that this was a period of transition, a time when things were being taken away from those who earned and saved them and given to those who did neither. Perhaps Secretary Wallace would have another answer—maybe he would call it the golden age of prosperity through shortages. But at any rate, call it what you will, this is not an age of economy. Nobody is being advised to save by those who are now in power throughout the nation. And Uncle Sam himself is setting an example of profligacy for his children by spending nearly two dollars for every one he can possibly take in.

Yet there have been great Americans who believed in thrift and economy. To prove it, the magazine Industry and Labor recently printed a series of excerpts from the wisdom of those who preached economy. Quite properly the first man quoted is President Jackson whose birthday was so recently celebrated by the New Dealers. Also quite properly the list closes with some words of wisdom on economy from the pen of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Believe it or not, here you are:

Save your money and thrive, or pay the price in poverty and disgrace.—Andrew Jackson.

Teach economy. This is one of the first and highest virtues. It begins with saving money.—Abraham Lincoln.

Economy makes happy homes and sound nations. Instill it deep.—George Washington.

Save, and teach all you are interested in to save; thus pave the way for moral and material success.—Thomas Jefferson.

Experience teaches that it is the men and women who pay attention to small savings that become wealthy.—James A. Garfield.

Extravagance rots character; the habit of saving money while it stiffens the will also brightens the energies. If you would be sure that you are beginning right, begin to save.—Theodore Roosevelt.

If a man has not that care for the days that have not yet dawned which we sum up in the whole idea of thrift and saving, then he has not opened his eyes to any adequate conception of human life * * *.

Every man has a right to his own property, which means a right to be assured to the fullest extent attainable, in the safety of his savings. By no other means can men carry the burdens of those parts of life which in the nature of things afford no chance of labor—childhood, sickness, old age.—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

THERE SHALL BE NO MORE SEA

The time seems to be approaching when those who go down to the sea in ships will no longer find the ships they once knew to carry them. The modern luxury liner already is a long way from the passenger vessels of the nineteenth century. In the four days or so it takes to cross the Atlantic the passenger has hardly time to find his way about. Indeed if he chooses he need not look at the sea at all. It may be that fewer and fewer people care to look at it. They have everything to which they are accustomed when ashore.

Now there are plans for still newer and stranger liners. One plan obliterates ports and even decks. What sea breeze passengers would get would come to them air-conditioned. Another is a streamlined U-boat on a large scale. The top deck has no masts or rigging, only places for planes. Air resistance would be reduced to the minimum. No one could go forward to feel the spindrift in his face. Instead he would have a thousand feet of gorgeous interiors to gaze upon.

Well, there are many who would like just this sort of thing. Perhaps the genuine lover of the sea will in time be reduced to tramp steamships or vanishing sailing vessels. The ordinary ocean traveler will simply luxuriate in hotel architecture of the latest design.

PARTY PLEDGES

Leaders of the Democratic party, because of offenses in the past, and Republican leaders who must act warily in the future, would do well to consider a recent statement by Senator Dickinson of Iowa, and a quotation from a speech delivered by William Jennings Bryan before the Ohio Constitutional Convention of 1912, which follow:

"The present administration's record, in violating the pledges of the Democratic national platform, has been so glaring that it requires little elaboration here. Never in the whole history of this country has there been so callous a betrayal of solemnly pledged principles or the subversion of a great party as has taken place during the past two years. Yet it must be obvious that our two-party system of government is rendered meaningless if those declarations made to the electorate are to become merely so many 'scraps of paper' once victory at the polls has been achieved. Dishonesty and hypocrisy in political life must not be permitted to go unchallenged any more than they can be condoned in business or professional life."—Hon. L. J. Dickinson, United States Senator from Iowa.

"Laws should be authorized dealing criminally with candidates who pledge themselves to specific measures and then, by official act, repudiate those pledges after election. Platforms should either be made binding or they should be prohibited. A platform has no meaning unless it is intended as a pledge, and a violation of such a pledge involves a greater degree of moral turpitude than the offenses against property rights which we now punish severely. A pledge publicly given by a candidate, and a platform promise not openly repudiated, should be binding in law as well as in conscience."—William Jennings Bryan, 1912.

A New York critic demands that all leeches be cleaned out of the City hall. Another sign that radicalism is creeping into our politics.

New Jersey sportsmen killed 131 does, fawns and illegal bucks during the deer season. At least they say they were sportsmen.

A noted Egyptologist has passed away at eighty-seven, thus paying the penalty, we suppose, for desecration of the tomb of the Pharaohs.

Ex-Mayor Hylan Dead.

To Make An Inland Sea.
500 Air Miles For $6.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

JOHN F. HYLAN, former Mayor of New York, is dead. Mayor LaGuardia orders flag at half mast; Hylan deserves the honor. He was an honest man; you cannot say that of everybody.

Hylan, elected by the support of William Randolph Hearst, following his promise to block every attempt to increase street car and subway fares, kept his promise and died poor. He could have broken the promise and died worth millions.

TEN CENTS a day, $30 a year more, from each of the little people travelling to and from their work in New York, would have given the street car gentlemen many tens of millions of "new money" every year and street car gentlemen are "business men" with "give and take" for their motto, especially "take."

You may guess what it would have been "worth" to Hylan had he listened to reason."

MRS. S. L. ROTHAFEL, known to her admirers as "Roxy," is dead, at 53. While he slept his heart stopped like a watch not wound. Men die too young in America, and weakened hearts kill many.

Life spent without exercise, or an adequate supply of oxygen, explains the death. Man is, physically, a machine, his heart is the engine, and heart disease kills more useful

WHAT IS CULTURE, ANYWAY?

Don't tell me your friend is a man of culture and I am sure to like him. Introduce me and let me see for myself what he is like. Let me live for a few minutes in the magnetism of his personality.

You say he has culture? He can read Latin and Greek in the originals? He has "read everything"? He knows everybody's worth and been all over the world. He can explain the Einstein theory? He understands what Gertrude Stein is trying to say? He speaks seven languages and he is a man of extraordinary culture?

We have the idea that in the not far distant future any business that will be able to stand the taxation will be lucky. It will take a pretty good business to stand the taxes.

Among other things a Beaver county man does not like about his wife is that she chews large quantities of tobacco. That wouldn't be very nice subject to inflict on those lingering soul stirring soul kisses on.

Very well, I believe you and I'd like to meet him. I would also like to see the dog that can talk, the horse that can do problems in arithmetic. I'd go across the street to see a one-ton watermelon. And if Greta Garbo were in town I'd stick my head out the window to see her pass by. I surely would. I'd like to meet your gentleman friend of the enormous Culture.

But before I bow in reverence and place him high among the great men of the earth—tell me what is growing in this culture of his. That's what I'd like to know.

Once in a laboratory I saw a long glass tube full of murky liquid. I was told it was a broth of peptone, beef and glucose, and also that it contained enough living diphtheria germs to kill a million human beings. The doctor in the laboratory called the food in which the germs were living a Culture.

And that's what true culture is—a food. Deadly things can grow in it. Good things can grow there. What is growing in this man's culture?

Snobbishness? Arrogance? Pettiness? Pride? Self-satisfaction? Hate? Is this culture food for those great evils of mankind? Or is it food for friendliness. For understanding? For pity? For generosity? For kind wisdom? For deep-headed love?

Tell me, please, before I meet your learned friend. So that I may know when I say "I'm glad to know you", whether I'm speaking the truth, or merely being polite.

Grandpa Luke of Possum Hollow, says it wouldn't be so bad for the young folks to know everything if they just knew a few things worth while along with the other things.

We have the idea that in the not far distant future any business that will be able to stand the taxation will be lucky. It will take a pretty good business to stand the taxes.

A young lady high school senior in Kansas has won 125 blue ribbons for raising hogs, in the last three years. Bet that young lady does not work six hours a day and five days a week. She is the kind of people who are described as "stern, green and monotonous." Ararat is in Armenia.

Now that congress is in session again a number of important matters will receive consideration in just a few years.

WHERE NOAH'S ARK LANDED

After the deluge, the summit of Mount Ararat, just 4266 years ago this year, is a little plain of snow, silent and desolate, more than 17,000 feet high, with a bright, green sky above. The view all round is described as "stern, green and monotonous." Ararat is in Armenia.

We always did believe in hard work and also have always thought others should think the same way. Hardworkers as a rule get along pretty good. The loafers do not do about all the complaining.

President Roosevelt has said twice "We will not retreat." Getting in a hole too far has kept a lot of things from retreating.

"Dividends" which used to be the watchword, has become the password.

The total national income is the whole amount that we produce and pay out for goods and services. From that total Townsend plan payments would have to come, and whatever was left over would be divided among all the rest of the people.

Evidence Against Drexler Is Weak

Likely That Commonwealth's Case Against Constable Will Collapse

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—The commonwealth's case against Constable Tim Drexler, indicted as an accessory in the slaying of Mrs. Martha Westwood, has virtually collapsed, it was learned today.

Assistant District Attorney Chauncey W. Pruger admitted today the commonwealth had little evidence to link Drexler with the slaying for which Justice of the Peace James J. Westwood, the victim's husband, was now on trial.

Admitting the commonwealth was unable to place Drexler with Westwood in the automobile in which the 'squire was alleged to have left a roadhouse for McKees Rocks to kill his wife, Pruger was asked: "Well, then, is Drexler pretty safe?"

He shrugged his shoulders and answered: "Yes, I'd say so. We don't have much against him."

Bodies Crushed

Plummeting out of the night into the recesses of the swamp, the big ship was not located until four hours after the disaster. Bodies of the victims, some of them still in the wreckage of the ship.

Others in the murky waters, were crushed almost beyond recognition.

While bodies were being removed, no cause had been assigned early today for the wreck, but L. R. Smith, president of the American Airlines, said a full investigation would be ordered. Early today representatives of the air bureau of the department of commerce were on the scene.

Here in this small Arkansas town—"where nothing ever happens"—all was activity as newspaper men and camera men crowded through the streets and as the bodies were being brought here from the lowlands in slow moving wagons, the only vehicles capable of penetrating the swamp.

Airliner In Swamp

The airliner lay in broken bits in the swamp. Partly wrapped around trees when the plane found it after a long, incessant hunt, debris was scattered for 300 yards and the motors were torn loose from their shaftings. The scene of the crash has been under high water for several days because of heavy rains and the water in several places was as much as two feet deep.

Mail packages had burst open and letters were scattered about. The gasoline tanks burst but there was no explosion. Great branches of trees had been ripped away by the impact and the fuselage was a mass of twisted metal.

Plane Off Course

First grim word of the disaster was brought here by C. C. Fogg, a member from the American Airlines.

Hughes Seeking New Air Record

Young Film-Director Plans For New "Mystery Speed Dash"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Before he returns to the coast within the next few days, Howard Hughes will seek a new air record in a "mystery speed dash," the young film producer-aviator said today.

Hughes, who set new transcontinental record yesterday when he landed at Newark airport 9 hours 27 minutes and 10 seconds after leaving Los Angeles, flatly refused to discuss details of the proposed hop.

manager from the American Airlines, said the plane was 28 minutes late on its swing in from Newark, N. J., there last night. He also said the plane should have contacted ground stations every 15 minutes but nothing was heard after 7:18 p. m. when the pilot Jerry Marshall reported that he was making an emergency landing at a field near Brinkley, Ark., near Goodwin.

O. C. Orr Bible Class Party

Meanwhile federal department of commerce officials and the president of the American Airlines, C. R. Smith, of Fort Worth, rushed to the isolated community here by air to conduct investigations.

Working by the light of flickering lanterns booted farmers waded into the swamp to recover the bodies of the 14 passengers and the crew of three.

The bodies of the dead were so smashed and torn that workers were able to piece many pieces of them together only by their clothing.

The bodies were taken to Forest City, 12 miles from here. After the inquest.

Among the victims of the crash were Frank C. Hart, wealthy New Yorker, president of the Hartol Products Company, and W. R. Dyess, works progress administrator for Arkansas. R. H. McNair Jr. of Little Rock, Ark., an aide to Dyess, also was a passenger, as was Charles Altschul nephew of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York.

One of the loveliest of the winter season's many informal teas was that of Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Fischer, 406 Park avenue.

Guests were of the King's Daughters, First M. E. church, and the occasion was of special interest to them because it marked the 50th anniversary of the founding of the international order of King's Daughters. The tea event was in celebration of this "Golden Birthday." Hours from 2:30 to 5 o'clock were observed. Dainty refreshments were served in the dining room and tea was poured by the president of the organization, Mrs. W. O. Mayberry. Her aides were Mrs. Ira Campbell, Mrs. W. G. Ayres, Mrs. C. W. Weddel, Mrs. W. Ralph Steen and Miss Mollie Davis.

Sixty guests participated in the very pleasant gathering.

The local King's Daughters group was organized thirty-eight years ago.

Gaston Post To Aid In Safety Drive In State

Safety Council Will Be Organized With Ivor V. Davis As Chairman

MEMBERSHIP IS WELL OVER TOP

Crowding the assembly room to the doors and filling every available inch of space, members of the Perry S. Gaston post, No. 343, American Legion, held their regular meeting Tuesday night in the Legion Home. It was one of the best attended meetings in years and augurs well for the new year.

Safety, membership and employment were the three features stressed during the meeting. Edward R. Reese, in charge of the New Castle office of the state employment service, spoke on the work that had been done in the past two years and the method of procedure in the office.

He explained the system of registration and classification and how men were drawn from the lists to be sent out to various types of work. In Mr. Reese's office there are thousands of classification cards showing the trades or kinds of work of the applicants. These are kept up-to-date insofar as it is possible.

Plan Safety Council

Commander James E. Moorhead, in charge of the meeting, announced that the state had asked the Perry S. Gaston Post to co-operate in the present safety drive being pushed by Captain Doerr of the state highway patrol. Ivor V. Davis was appointed safety chairman for the post and will organize a safety council among the members.

David Tobin, head of the membership campaign this year, presented a report of his activities and the activities of his committee. To-

Chief Commonwealth Witnesses Scheduled To Give Testimony Today

DAMAGING EVIDENCE IS EXPECTED IN CASE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—The Commonwealth trained its big guns on Justice of the Peace James J. Westwood today.

It summoned the ace witnesses upon whom it depends for substantiation of its charge that the McKees Rocks "square shot and killed his homeloving wife, Martha, as she lay asleep in bed in a second floor flat last July and then returned to a gay roadhouse party from which he had slipped away for a few minutes.

Chief among the important Commonwealth witnesses was Mrs. Sophie Sehar, the Slavic neighbor of the Westwoods. Kept awake by a teething infant the night of Mrs. Westwood's death, she asserted it was the "square shot" she saw fleeing down the back steps of the Westwood apartment as the fatal shots rang out. Since then, because of the strange deaths of other important figures in the case, Mrs. Sehar has been constantly guarded by county detectives.

Other important witnesses on the list to be summoned as the trial swung into its more important stages were County Detective Walter Monaghan, a friend of Westwood, who became his chief accuser as the result of his investigation of the woman's death; Michael Mathey, deposed McKees Rocks police chief, who has a broad knowledge of the McKees Rocks "Bottoms" district and its variegated foreign population; and Peggy Moran Bellmas, the blonde "party girl" with whom Westwood danced and drank at a night club the night of his wife's slaying.

Mrs. Sehar, a rapid and voluble talker with an explosive personality, was expected to become the target for bitter cross-examination by defense counsel.

After hearing a demand from Assistant District Attorney Chauncey Pruger that Westwood be sent to the electric chair for his wife's death, the jury of five women and seven men visited the scene of the slaying and also the night club where Westwood maintains he was having a gay time when his wife was killed. License Clerk Must Quit Job After 24 Years

Charlie Hendrickson Helped
Many Embarrassed
Couples On Love
Road

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—For 24 years, Charlie Hendrickson had helped Dan Cupid and was famous for the flashing smile with which he never failed to greet embarrassed, young and old, who ventured to his desk in the marriage license bureau here. But it's all gone now for Charlie has found that politics can be played even in the "Love" bureau.

Two days after he rounded out his 24th year of service he received a two-hour notice that he was through.

Charlie was dazed and unhappy for the bureau had been his only interest in life. He had been looking forward to making out the license for his grand-daughter who is planning a West Point marriage in June.

Most famous of the thousands who have signified their willingness to say "I do" to Charlie were Alexander Moore and the celebrated beauty, Lillian Russell. Moore, who was editor and owner of the Pittsburgh Leader at the time—later ambassador to Spain—was a little nervous. Charlie remembers. But the beautiful Lillian, he recalls, wasn't a bit fidgety. It was her fourth marriage.

With such a multitude of applications intervening, Charlie can't remember the names of his first "victims" but his last two are another matter. William Redlich and Zelda Shendow were the last couple to get Charlie's initials and the little speech of congratulations and advice which he always gave the "boys and girls."

This last gesture came because Charlie had been happily married for 45 years and he wanted all the couples, no matter what age, to approach marriage in the right spirit.

One incident Charlie remembers well, it was when a judge from Ohio came shyly up and registered his age at 84. On the other extreme he recalls a little girl, only 13 years old, and not quite knowing what it was all about, who came to him with her parents, the husband-to-be and a court order permitting the match.

In 1912, his first year on the job, Charlie remembers that you could get a license for 50 cents. Then it went up to $1—$1.50—and finally $2.50.

Despite the many happy memories he has of the past Charlie is leading a sad life now, a pensioned life he does not want.

Charlie would rather greet Pittsburgh's couples with a: "Right here, please, and I'll fix you up," than have all the leisure in the world.

COMMUTATION OF BRUNO'S SENTENCE IS URGED

Nazi Newspaper Takes Up Issue

Life Imprisonment Sentence For Bruno Is Plea Of Berlin Publication

SAYS DOUBT OF ACTUAL GUILT

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Jan. 15.—The Nazi party newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, edited by Alfred Rosenberg, today urged commutation of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's sentence to life imprisonment.

Presenting a long review of the whole case, the paper said: "The crime of the Lindbergh baby was certainly the most condemnable in the history of American gangdom, and must be avenged accordingly, but there is a question whether just atonement could be found by the execution of Hauptmann."

The trial left many doubts about Hauptmann's guilt, the articles said, pointing to the condemned man's own denial, the suicide of Violet Sharp, and the alleged complicity of Hauptmann's fellow German, Isidor Fisch.

"In the case of a capital crime, a more thorough and convincing cleaning-up is required than afforded by the circumstantial evidence in the Flemington court.

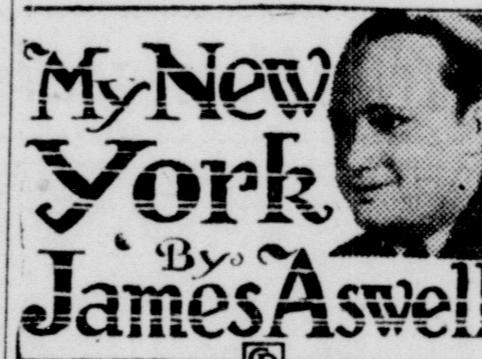

"It would, therefore, be an irresponsible act to put Hauptmann in the electric chair. Nothing shall be said against New Jersey justice, but the magistrate who has the right must commute to a life term the death sentence—the only one which cannot be repaired."

"If there has ever been a case in criminal history where clemency is justified, it is the Hauptmann case."

Americans are so tender-hearted they can weep over anybody's loss of liberty except here at home.

The county commissioners have taken a monthly lease on rooms for Judges James A. Chambers, and W. Walter Braham in the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company. The monthly lease was favored for the reason that if the county should provide other quarters for the judge during the year they would not be tied up on a yearly lease. Hereafter monthly leases will be taken on other offices which the county provides.

One of the duties of Registration Clerk Thomas Edmunds, is to check off from the registration records the names of all persons who die. The bureau receives the names of deceased persons every week from the bureau of vital statistics. They are sent from here to the bureau by the local register.

In the case of Frank J. Wimer and Helen Wimer against Thomas F. Patterson, the defendant is given fifteen days in which to file an affidavit of defense. The case is one growing out of an automobile accident on the New Castle-Ellwood road. The defendants were injured in a collision which occurred near the residence of Gomer Owens.

County Commissioners have made an agreement with local dealers under which they will have from 75 cents to one dollar per ton on all coal delivered in relief cases. As the amount reaches several hundred tons per month, it will be seen the saving will be considerable. The commissioners have also instituted a system by which they will keep track of kind of coal that is being delivered.

Two cars had passed in the interim and some of the workers are said to have recognized the cars and drivers. Unless the tools are returned within a short time action will probably be taken.

OUT OF HOSPITAL

Tom McMahon, former heavyweight fighter, has been released from the New Castle hospital where he underwent treatment for blood-poisoning which developed from a lacerated finger.

Register and Recorder William R. Hanna has received from the research and statistics division of the Home Loan Bank Board, a table of statistics showing mortgage foreclosures in 890 communities scattered throughout the United States.

Totals for the first 11 months of last year show a decrease from 1934, although the decrease is not large.

A decided decrease is shown when the figures are compared with those of 1934.

Former County Commissioner Elmer Conner of Ellwood City was a visitor at the court house yesterday and had a pleasant chat with the present board of commissioners. Mr. Conner is feeling encouraged over the business outlook. He says that

NEW CASTLE DEFEATS ALIQUIPPA 15 TO 13

Undefeated In Section Three

New Castle High Takes
Close Game At Aliquippa
Floor Tuesday Night

TOSCANO-GROMMES STARS OF BATTLE

It was a hair-raising finish at Aliquippa last night as New Castle managed to come through with its fourth straight section three victory to further entrench at the top of the league. The final score, 15 to 13, gives you some idea of what kind of a game it was. Emil Grommes and Harry Toscano emerged from the torrid struggle to become the New Castle "Red Hurricane" stars.

New Castle came from behind to win the game. At the first period the Aliquippa team led 3 to 1, and at the end of the first half the Lippens had a lead of 8 to 5. The New Castle team could not locate the hoops in the first half, with Johnnie Cabas, a star for Covelli, being the only man to get a field goal, and this was in the second period. The Aliquippa guards, Milavich and Robinson, were checking the Castles far out on the court in a clever zone defense. Aliquippa broke through the New Castle guards for three field goals in the first half of the battle. Were it not for the three fous by Toscano in the first half, the Bridenbaums would have been sunk.

Airtight Defenses

Coming back for the third period with an airtight defense, only to be met with an equally airtight defense by the "Quippians", the fans saw the lowest scoring of the year, the New Castle team taking the third period 2 to 0, and making the count 8 to 7 in favor of the Aliquippa team. It was anybody's game in the last period.

Throwing caution to the winds, in the final eight minutes of play, the New Castles began popping them from far out on the court, and they managed to get three of them through the hoops for the victory. Grommes made two field goals and Toscano one in the fourth period, while the Aliquippa team was held to two field goals and a foul, for five points, against eight for the Castles.

Toscano Wins Game

In the final seconds of the game Harry Toscano raced down the floor and made a field goal and was fouled, and the referee ruled the basket counted and gave Toscano two free shots, which he made good, for a total of four points, and it meant victory for New Castle.

The game was one of the most exciting seen at the valley court in some time and gives New Castle a firmer grip on the first place rung. New Castle has defeated New Brighton, Ambridge, Ellwood City and Aliquippa.

Good on Fous

In foul-tossing last night the Castles made seven out of 11, while the "Quippians" made three out of 12. New Castle was the best at the charity line, which fact helped a lot in the victory.

New Castle will meet Beaver Falls high here Thursday night in a section three engagement.

New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" basketball team is riding the crest of popularity at the present moment, with four straight section three victories to its credit. The victory over Aliquippa last night was most encouraging.

Butler high defeated Ellwood City at the latter's floor, 25 to 20, for the third defeat handed the Schillmen this year. The Ambridge boys sort of folded up before the New Brightoners, 33 to 19, at the Ambridge floor.

Beaver Falls and New Brighton are the two most dangerous foes for the Castles at the time being, with Beaver Falls due here tomorrow night for a crucial tilt.

EVANS CITY, Pa. Jan. 15.—Fighting desperately to overcome a first half lead piled up by their opponents, Shenango high school's varsity basketball team dropped a tough 25-22 decision to Evans City, high, at Evans City Tuesday night.

The home team took the lead at the start of the game never to be headed. The initial period found Evans City sporting an 8-4 margin and at the half the score was 14-8. The Lawrence county quintet tallied 14 points in the second half, just three points short of a tie.

For Shenango, Tanner and Pitzer were outstanding; Denbow, Banyay and Kaufman annexed 24 of the Evans City points. On Friday night at the Shenango floor, East Brook high will oppose Shenango in what promises to be one of the feature contests of the season.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Stocks staged another bullish demonstration today with the tape at times as much as three minutes late. Advances ranged from a fraction to nearly six points.

Rubbers, oils, sugars and other groups allied with inflation rises in past markets moved forward briskly. The outstanding gain was that of 5% points in Tri-Continental preferred.

In utility issues Consolidated Gas, Public Service and North American were all higher.

Buying of oils was again encouraged by the rise in crude and gasoline prices. Standard Oil of California, Texas Corp., and Socony Vacuum were the leaders.

Rails were another group which rallied easily. Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific all showing gains.

Corporate bonds were generally higher but government issues sold off. Commodities were moderately higher with both wheat and cotton showing slight gains. Weakness in the dollar featured the foreign exchange markets.

Republicans Will Hold Conference

Selection Of Candidate At Large For National Convention To Be Up

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15.—With a state-wide party scheduled some time this month, Pennsylvania Republican ranks today are buzzing with speculation over selection of candidates-at-large for the G. O. P. national convention in June.

Impetus to excited theorizing was given at a meeting of state county party chieftains here at which M. Harvey Taylor, state chairman, declared a decision on the personnel would be made well in advance of the nominating deadline, January 29.

Taylor indicated nominations will be made at the general war council "to be held soon."

Seven delegates-at-large will be included in the Keystone state representation at Cleveland where Republicans will nominate presidential and vice-presidential standard bearers for the November election.

At least one tentative slate of delegates has received serious attention from political observers, it was learned at the quiet G. O. P. leaders' session here.

As listed in well-informed circles the representatives-at-large will include U. S. senator James J. Davis, former U. S. senator David A. Reed; W. L. Mellon, former state chairman; former U. S. senator Joseph R. Grundy; Mrs. Marjory Scranton, national committeewoman; Taylor and Joseph N. Pew, Jr., vice president of the Sun Oil Company.

Mrs. Scranton; senator Davis, Reed, Taylor and Pew are described as fixtures on the list while it is thought Grundy may be induced to abandon his usual policy of running as a district delegate from his home in Bucks county.

Reed is also regarded as Pennsylvania's possible choice on the convention resolutions committee which will frame the Republican national platform.

The suggested slate offers the advantage of representing virtually all sections of the state, it was pointed out, with senator Davis, Mellon and Reed from the western area, Taylor from Harrisburg, Mrs. Scranton from Scranton, Pew from Philadelphia and Grundy from near by Bucks county.

Taylor incidentally, has been mentioned with Otto R. Messner, of Lancaster, deputy attorney general, as a possible successor to auditor general Frank E. Baldwin of Potter county. Baldwin, prevented by law from succeeding himself, is said to be headed for a term as state treasurer when Charles A. Waters, present incumbent, is forced to retire by similar restrictions.
